BIG DOCKET FOR SOCORRO COURT

A New Railroad Station Is Promised—The School of Mines to Open Soon.

Socorro, N. M., Aug. 27.—The civil and criminal dockets of Socorro county for the September term have been arranged by district clerk Newcomb. There are 120 civil cases and about 65 criminal cases, including peace proceedings and appeals.

Among the charges for drawing a deadly weapon upon another and assault with a deadly weapon appears the name of Daniel Archuleta, formerly deputy sheriff at Magdalena, who was tried at the last term of court here and found guilty of murder. His punishment as fixed by the court in that case was from 15 to 20 years in the penitentiary.

The "B. C. P." a secret organization here among the women folk, is getting ready for a busy social season this fall and winter. What the name means is not given out but the boys think it stands for "Boys Can't Belong."

The School of Mines will reopen next month and there will be about 75 students. President Drake anticipates a better year than the institution has ever known.

A new station for Socorro and Rincon constructed along the lines of the station at Las Cruces will be built. This has come from official sources. The quarters here are entirely inadequate.
